

ICMECE'24

4. International Conference on Mechanical Engineering

CALL FOR PAPERS

The goal of ICMECE 2024 is to gather scientists working on mechanics, mechanical engineers, researchers, technicians and industrial representatives to present the cutting-edge studies on Mechanical Problems arising in technical and industrial manner. This event is an interdisciplinary academic forum including all aspects of mechanical engineering problems. Therefore, a discussion media is formed for the scientific and engineering issues to arrive at more complete mechanical systems for the applications of future world.

The audience on the interdisciplinary mechanical issues can be M.Sc./Ph.D. students, Post-graduate Students, Research Scholars, Post-doc s-Scientists and all other academicians related to Mechanical Engineering, Manufacturing Engineering, Civil Engineering, Energy Systems Engineering, Automotive Engineering and Natural Sciences. In addition, companies focusing on the entrepreneurship and research & development can participate at the event, too. The conference will perform traditional research paper presentations as well as the keynote talks by prominent speakers focusing on the related state-of-the-art technologies in the interdisciplinary fields of mechanics.
